

COURTESY LISTING

Hi, my name is Gemma. I am a beautiful, super smart German Shepherd girl. I am house trained, and crate trained (it only took me 4 days to learn to love my crate!) I am learning to walk nicely on a leash, I can sit, stay and I am learning how to come when called. I am still in dog school, and am mastering skills after only a few tries. I learn very quickly with clear instruction and positive reinforcement. I would really like to continue in obedience school, because it is my mission to make you happy and proud of me.

I have a lot of energy and would love to be with people who run or hike. I might be a really great search and rescue dog or agility dog! I am very athletic! Did I mention that I love to play fetch? I'm getting so good at dropping the ball when I bring it back to my human.

I don't have much experience with other four legged creatures, but my foster mom has 3 other dogs and two cats. I am starting to learn how to tolerate the dogs, but those darn cats are too much. I would do best in a home with no other dogs or cats.

I have a sweet temperament, and love to spend time with my humans. I have never been around small children, but I love my teenager and the adults in our house. I also love quiet time and sleep all night long. I love long walks on the beach and being cozy inside on rainy days.

I've been spayed and up to date on shots.

Love, Gemma
