

COURTESY LISTING

SAM

Sam is a 3-year-old, approximately 50 lb. Terrier Mix. Sam has a ton of energy and loves to play. He can be a barker as he wants to meet and play with everyone. He did a four-mouth leash training course with my wife but could use more help there. Sam needs more attention than my family is currently able to provide. He is a crate trained dog but doesn't like being alone for long periods. He loves to cuddle, run and swim. Sam also has to spend a considerable amount of time at Empire Kennels, where he has met many friends, and they feel he does well during his stays, playing with staff each day of his stay.

My family is unable to provide Sam with the life he deserves; he is currently on medication to help with his energy levels and anxiety (Trazadone and Gabapentin, prescribed by the Mother's load veterinarian office). The ideal home for Sam is one where he isn't alone for too long, and he is provided with many exercises or a big fenced-in yard to run where he won't need these medications.
