

COURTESY LISTING

Rex

We need to re home our dog Rex. It's hard as he is a sweet, adorable dog with SO much character, but we have realized our age and lifestyle do not match his beautiful energy. We have had him for 4 months and need to come to terms that it's not fair to Rex as well, that we do not have the capacity to allow him to be the energy that he is.

He will be 1 yrs old this month. He is a Border Collie mix. Definitely has herding instinct and is super smart. He knows most basic commands (sit, come, stay, down, etc.) Has had all his shots. LOVES to frolic! He always puts his paw up to pat you, then lays his head on your lap (if you are sitting of course). He has a zest for life.

We believe the owner fit, should be an "active" family. It's hard to let him go, but we have come to terms that he needs a happy life playing and living his life with the same energy as his family. Please reach out with your questions.
