

Hi my name is Remy. I am a Pitbull mix and around a year old. I was a stray wandering the streets of the East Bay when a kind garbage man stopped to help me. I was very skinny and covered in fleas and engine oil. I am such a special sweet girl that two sisters came together to help me. I am currently being fostered in Grass Valley where I got my spay surgery & all my vaccines.

My current foster home has a male Pitbull who is my new bestie. We love to cuddle & play. I am obsessed with the cat, so it would be best if my new home has no cats. I'm very well behaved around horses. I also get along great with male dogs and some female dogs. I would benefit from more socialization & training.

I am a love bug and live for affection. I enjoy being able to do "zoomies" in the yard, playing ball, going on car rides and walks. My foster mom says I am very smart, quick to learn & have excellent recall. I am also house & crate trained.

I need a forever home that will snuggle and exercise me regularly. Since I am young, I have lots of energy, but after I get it out I am a chill couch potato. I love to be outside & sunbathe. However, I am sensitive to the cold & rain so I should be mostly inside during the cold seasons. I also love food, treats and things to chew on.

Since I know what it's like to be neglected, I will give my caring forever person/people all the love I have, and I'll be the best dog that I know I can be!
